The CAXON.

A BURLESQUE ON

Shepherds, I have loſt my Love!

Same Tune.

BARBERS, I have loſt my Wig!
Have you ſeen my Caxon?
(Pride of ev'ry empty prig)
'Twas made by Jemmy Jackſon.
I for it my hair forſook,
Whoſe colour was a flaxen;
Ah! woe is me, how ſad I look,
Since I have loſt my Caxon!

Jemmy I muſt ne'er ſee more,
'Till my Wig's returning;
He caution'd me, aye o'er and o'er,
'Gainſt loſing, and 'gainſt burning!
Whither is my Caxon toſs'd?
Barbers, tell me quickly;
Ah me! perhaps 'tis ever loſt,
Examine e'er ſo ſtrictly!

FOWLER, PRINTER, SALISBURY.
